

'Live' learning opportunities!

- Would your children enjoy genuine real-world learning tasks with tangible outcomes to be proud of?
- Do your staff welcome support to deliver engaging, memorable, hands-on, curriculum linked projects?

Large or small scale, any grounds development project can be a learning opportunity. Identifying problems, finding solutions and being hands-on during construction engage children of all ages to learn through real-world tasks. Experienced support throughout the whole process facilitates positive outcomes for staff and children.

This is typical feedback from schools after the workshops.

"A fulfilling project, with some real 'light bulb' moments"

"Evidence of creativity in curriculum delivery for Ofsted."

"Children are engaged and achieving"

"Language development is evident"

Every workshop is bespoke for your school.

We offer a unique combination of landscape architecture and education experience over 30 years.
